Nanostructured Thermoelectric Materials
Uwe Kortshagen (PI) Angelo Fraboni and Ariel Chatman
Mechanical Engineering, University of Minnesota

Nanostructuring shows potential to increase efficiency by reducing thermal conductivity, $k$, while improving the power factor, $S^2\sigma$.

$$ZT = \frac{S^2\sigma}{k} T$$

Nanocrystals produced in a non-thermal plasma are hot pressed into a disk of nanograinated material.